

a One Smart Lady Production and Gladstone Publishing Service

Wouldn't you like to work with an editor and coach whose clients have successfully worked through the process of writing and self-publishing their books?

I am an editor, publishing consultant and coach who has launched over 30 first-time writers' writing careers.

Can you see the benefit of putting your manuscript in the hands of an editor who can help writers develop their stories in the appropriate voice and take their readers on at journey?

These authors have been successful creating or expanding their ministries and speaking careers over the years.
